

I was born in Chelmsford, England and studied at Colchester School of Art, where I was taught life drawing and painting by some leading contemporary artists, including Peter Coker, John Nash and Sir Peter Blake.

I find inspiration for my landscapes and seascapes from the Stour Valley, close to my studio in Bradfield in Essex and from frequent visits to the Rhine Valley in Germany. My work is in private collections in the UK, Germany, Switzerland, Austria, Spain, Portugal and the United States.

I have exhibited at a number of galleries in the UK and Europe

I recently held a very successful one man show 'Rhine Reflections – an exhibition of paintings by Ted Toms' at Haus an der Redoute – Bad Godesberg, Germany

The exhibition of over 50 of my landscape paintings at this historic art gallery in Bonn was opened by the District Mayor on August 17th 2023. The exhibition recorded the largest attendance at this venue with over half of the paintings sold.

My paintings have been featured on German television and newspapers.

As a multimedia designer I have won a number of international awards for my work, including BIMA and New York Festivals awards for multimedia.

My multimedia design has featured in a number of international museums. Design Clients included Hearst Magazines in New York, Bank of America, Philips Electronics and National Geographic.
